Sixty-plus years of Mt. St. Mary's history

Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet founded Mount St. Mary's College in 1925 and has graduated over 6,600 students. The seniors majored in traditional liberal arts studies to specially designed programs.

When it was founded, the college was conducted temporarily at St. Mary's Academy, located at Slauson and Crenshaw in Los Angeles.

In 1927, two years later, the Sisters purchased 36 acres from the Rodeo Land and Water Company at the economical price of $4,500 per acre. The new location for the college stretched out among the foothills of the beautiful Santa Monica mountains, 1,100 feet about sea level, overlooking much of Los Angeles and 40 miles of the Pacific Ocean.

After 20 years, an additional purchase brought the Chalon campus to its present 56 acres. At its first commencement exercise, June 16, 1929, baccalaureate degrees were awarded to 10 seniors in the charter class.

On November 6, 1961, Mt. St. Mary's college was ravaged by a brush fire that heavily damaged three structures on the campus.

In 1962 the college was expanded to a second campus located on the Doheny Estate in central Los Angeles. The Doheny facilities compliments the educational opportunities of the original Chalon campus in west Los Angeles by offering career-oriented Associate degree programs as well as the varied graduate programs.
